

Speaker's Bio

Jeffrey Wilcox

Jeffrey is president and chief learning officer of three organizations devoted to fostering a continuity of professional and community leadership for the nonprofit sectors of the United States and Canada. He has a proven track record for leading nonprofit organizations, pioneering new approaches to community problems and solutions, and training audiences on the fundamentals of effective nonprofit management, fundraising and community leadership.

Jeffrey leads the largest private organization for nonprofit leadership continuity in the West. Under three brands, he provides over 140 days of training each year through seven institutes and workshops, supports 60 trained and vetted nonprofit executives who serve as interim professionals in the United States and Canada, and writes The Third Sector Report for the Long Beach Business Journal and syndication to educate readers about community leadership.

He has over 25 years of professional nonprofit experience having held executive staff and board positions in nonprofit organizations throughout the West including Seattle, Phoenix, Los Angeles and Orange County, California. His professional experiences include:

- President & CEO, Interim Solutions for the Nonprofit Sector
- Executive Director, Children's Hospital Foundation of Orange County
- Senior Vice-President, United Way of Greater Los Angeles
- Senior Vice-President, Valley of the Sun United Way (Phoenix)
