

February 2015

Browse an archive of all of the content on the site.

Search

Type

- Any - ▼

Apply

Reset

Carol's Recipe for Success: 3 Musings Before Starting A New Role

Blog

Carol Neuman

February 2, 2015

0

In May 2014, I hopped a province. I relocated to Vancouver from Edmonton eager to bring my experience as a community builder, board member, volunteer and executive director to a new city, role and organization. And, wow, I am excited to join Vantage Point as the new(ish) Director of Learning - I joined this passionate team in October.

Immersing myself in my previous roles was an intensive, hands-on way to learn about the complex day-to-day necessities of leading a not-for-profit organization. Yet, like many others there were times when I struggled. What were others expecting of me when I was...

Read more about Carol's Recipe for Success: 3 Musings Before Starting A New Role

Add comment

The Leaders Corner - Neelam Sahota, DIVERSEcity Community Resources Society

Blog

Denise Baker

February 17, 2015

0

Neelam is a change maker, a bundle of energy and smarts. Her first year with DIVERSEcity has been exciting and tumultuous, with a new building in development, major changes to Federal Grants representing 70% of their budget, and a significant shift in culture for the 40 year old organization.

It is obvious that Neelam likes life best when a lot is going on. Solving challenges and seeing how the puzzle fits together is a major motivator, driving her to strategically innovate and collaborate. She credits the support of her board chair, core team, and family for the success of last year's journey...

Read more about The Leaders Corner - Neelam Sahota, DIVERSEcity Community Resources Society

Add comment