vantage point | 75
Transforming Not-for-Profit Leadership

July 2019

Browse an archive of all of the content on the site.

Search

Type

- Any - ▼

Apply

Reset

Convincing ourselves we're worth it – investing in capacity

Blog
Maria Turnbull
July 2, 2019
0

Forget about the funders – convince yourself first you're worth investing in.

There's a lot of conversation in our sector about changing the current funding paradigm that is seen as short-term, project-related, and restrictive. Important blog posts like The Ethical Argument for General Operating Funds take a stab at changing the narrative within the funding community. Here at Vantage Point, we took up the conversation through our podcast on the topic The overhead myth: Let's end it once and for all!

I can understand the focus of getting buy-in from funders. We are incensed that most funding...

Read more about Convincing ourselves we're worth it – investing in capacity
Add comment

From Our Vantage Point Episode 51 - The Truth in Truth and Reconciliation

Blog
Nav Nagra
July 12, 2019
0

This month we sit down with Sherry Small to discuss what we mean when we speak about Truth in Truth and Reconciliation.

Read more about From Our Vantage Point Episode 51 - The Truth in Truth and Reconciliation
Add comment

Part Four: Making the Final Tech Decision -- What Steps Should I Take?

Blog
Philip Manzano
July 23, 2019
0

Over the past few months we have been taking some time to unpack the most common challenges and objections not-for-profits face when considering investing in a Customer Relationship Management System ("CRM"). First, we took some times to look at the basics of a CRM. We then explored what a CRM looks like to different members of a not-for-profit team. We looked at all the missed opportunities your organization piles up without a CRM and finally, tackled the fear of losing data by exploring institutional knowledge.

The ultimate question remains: how does all of this convince my organization to...

Read more about Part Four: Making the Final Tech Decision -- What Steps Should I Take?
Add comment