Strong Leadership is about more than running efficient meetings.

Serving as the board chair of a not-for-profit organization is an important and challenging role. You lead a team of board members, develop a strong relationship with senior leadership, and are a catalyst for critical board discussions. Providing effective board leadership requires many skills, not least clarity around the role of the board chair and the basic functions of a not for profit board.

Vantage Point's Critical Role of the Board Chair workshop provide you with insights and good practices that support you to excel in your role.
